

Mitigation Planning for Local and Tribal Communities G318

SCEMD TRAINING GRAM

Course Description:

This course is intended for staff responsible for developing, updating, or reviewing local and/ or tribal mitigation plans that meet the regulatory requirements found at 44 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 201. Students will learn about the mitigation planning process, including involving stakeholders and the public, conducting a risk assessment, identifying and prioritizing mitigation actions, implementing the mitigation strategy, and updating the plan. Plan developers will learn about the mitigation planning regulations (44 CFR Part 201) as well as FEMA's Local Mitigation Plan Review Guide and Tribal Multi-hazard Mitigation Planning Guidance in order to develop a hazard mitigation plan. Plan reviewers will learn to provide recommendations and guidance to develop or update a mitigation plan in accordance with FEMA's requirements.
